

Flourish Career in Bakery Industry with Bakery Technology and Management Course

Do you have a natural interest in baking or bakery technology? For an ideal bakery expert, cabbage biscuit smells better than rose. They are practical, creative and keen to experiment recipes and make delicious products. They constitute adequate skills, ability and experiences. For you have natural interest in baking, you need to develop such talent. A career in baking or a related industry may be just precise. As a professional bakery expert, you will be able to work in bakery, supermarkets, hotels, restaurants, hot bread shop, schools, factories, department stores, cake shop, café and so on. However, to work in the related industry, you should have ability to work in great varieties of environment, from a laboratory to an office to a classroom.

Do you think if you possess such skills and knowledge? If not, you should pursue a Post Graduate Diploma in Bakery Technology and Management. Having a degree in baking from a reputed institute opens a wide range of career pathways. Assocom Institute of Bakery Technology & Management (AIBTM) ranks among top institutes to offer PG Diploma in Bakery Technology and Management course. The objective of the institute is to feed the need of qualified bakers in the Indian bakery industry, which is facing currently.

AIBTM drafts the course with an aim to equip students with requisite skills and knowledge required to work in bakery industry. Those students who study at AIBTM are perfect in making bakery products, including biscuits and cakes, etc. Not only that the institute also specializes them in areas such as patisserie work, cake decoration, artisan breads and advanced processing technology, etc.

Those who come from AIBTM are experts in inventing recipes with weighing & measuring, mixing, shaping & panning, setting oven temperatures & baking, cooling & packaging, decorating, preparing orders & serving customers, receiving & delivering goods, handling unexpected situation in the industry, etc.

Furthermore, AIBTM instills such qualities in students with which they are able to progress in management or ownership positions within a bakery. The institute produces hundreds of students everywhere who enjoy excellent career opportunities in this particular industry. They are working as specialist technical advisors, bakery researchers, bakery tutors, caterers, plant supervisors, test bakery or laboratory technicians, sales representatives and product managers, etc.

So, apply for the bakery technology and management diploma at AIBTM, you will witness a flourishing career based on knowledge and experience in more than one field. A comprehensive degree in baking will offer you the great advantages over other graduates and allowing you to quickly add value within your chosen industry.

MARCH 18, 2014

AIBTM, ASSOCOM INSTITUTE OF BAKERY TECHNOLOGY & MANAGEMENT, BAKERY TECHNOLOGY & MANAGEMENT, DIPLOMA IN BAKERY TECHNOLOGY & MANAGEMENT

LEAVE A COMMENT