Bakery technology and management

Asscom Institute of Bakery Technology and Management (AIBTM) will commence its various courses from this month. Located at Greater Noida, the institute will offer international certification and recognised programmes for students as well as professionals.

For its programs, courses, training methodology and faculty orientation, AIBTM has partnered with USA based AIB International School of Baking, (formerly known as American Institute of Baking) and American Society of Baking (ASB). Its specialised bakery and confectionery craft courses are designed with the collaboration of Hyejeon College, South Korea. This collaboration will drive internationally recognised certification, twin degree programmes, students and staff exchange, study abroad programmes and so on. AIBTM's technical and advisory council comprises global and Indian experts.

Admissions to the various courses at AIBTM are open and the detailed information is available on www.aibtm.in
